

THE RODENT CODE

Rodents are part of the scientific group known as Order Rodentia. All the animals in this group have one pair of always-growing incisors (sharp teeth in the upper and lower jaws). These teeth have to be kept short by gnawing or chewing food.

You can find rodents all over BC - maybe even in your own backyard or neighbourhood park! See if you can uncover some rodent types by cracking the RODENT CODE... (arrows on page 15)
